20 Grade School Pupils Attend L-W Language Lab

The Lincoln-Way Community high school language laboratory, equipped with the latest in electronic devices for the teaching of modern languages, was formally opened a week ago with a class of grade school students from the high school district.

The lab is designed to give students more experience with spoken French, Spanish, and German as a supplement to their classroom work. A lab session will also be held in Latin.

Twenty tuition students, eighteen seventh graders and two from the sixth grade, are currently in session for one and one-half hours at L-W each morning studying French with instructor Mrs. Betty Morrison of the L-W staff.

Lincoln-Way is one of the few high schools, 50 to be exact, in the United States to have such facilities. The value of this type of learning is apparent but as yet many schools have not installed the necessary equipment. The equipment consists of thirty individual booths in each of which is a tape recording and listening device, a monitor-unit for the teacher, hundreds of tapes, and a "noiseraser" for making the tapes reusable.

By giving each student an opportunity to recite and to receive undivided attention of the teacher—all on recording and auditing machinery—the laboratory does what is impossible within the limits of the classroom time.

Exercises on the tapes involve practice in pronunciation, reading conversation and dictation. In the practice of conversation, for instance questions and answer tapes

Vandals Do $500 Damage To Trucks Of K & K Co

Vandals, mostly young, are believed responsible for approximately $500 damage to two trucks, property of the K & K Concrete Co. at Frankfort, last Saturday night.

Two trucks had been left outside the garage on the plant property and sometime during the night a group of boys, stoned the two vehicles, breaking out the windshields and all the other glass in the cabs as well as demolishing the headlights and other lights. Officials of the company estimate the damage at around $500.

That the damage was done by boys was indicated by footprints found in the sand and around the trucks, according to investigators.

It also was reported in the village that someone has been using a rifle to destroy blinker lights used by the Illinois Bell Telephone Co. to mark excavations for cables.

Chest X-Rays To Be Taken In Will Co.

A chest X-ray survey of all of Will County has been arranged for this Fall, announced Dr. Felix A. Tornabene, Will County Health Officer.

"There will be two X-ray units furnished by the Illinois department of public health, division of tuberculosis control. These units will be available during the month of October and part of November, when we hope to survey approximately 30,000 persons," Dr. Tornabene said. "The X-ray units will be stationed in all parts of our county so as to make this service available to all. There will be no charge."

The Will County Tuberculosis Association will take an active part in assisting and promoting this program, it was said.

Specific dates and locations of the survey units will be announced at a later date.

present the conversations. Then one side of the dialogue is given by the tape and the other side by the student.

Language teaching with the help of electronic equipment has come into wide use among colleges in the past decade. High schools are coming to realize its great merit.

The federal government has set aside a large sum to help schools to purchase this type of equipment. L-W will get some help from this fund.

Erwin Knoll, reporter for the "Washington Post" states the advantage of the lab: "Students work at their own pace. Making up missed classes or repeating imperfectly learned work. Avoidance of exposing students to the faulty pronunciation of classmates. Equal opportunity for all to hear the instructor distinctly."

A non-profit organization called IALOTS - the Institute of Applied Linguistics and Overseas Training Service-- is working closely with Electronic Teaching Laboratories in preparation of methods. In addition to classroom the lab at L-W will be open at lunch time and after school for individual work.

Interment was in St. John's cemetery, Mokena.

Fireworks Draws 4,000 At Orland Pk.

An estimated crowd of 4,000 largest in the history of the event attended the annual Fourth of July fireworks display staged by American Legion post, No. 526, of Orland Park.

The Orland Park Plaza, at 143rd and LaGrange road, was filled with cars and all other available parking space in the vicinity of the Legion hall was filled.

Money for the fireworks was contributed by business men, builders and various organizations in the community.

The fire department had a truck at the scene but there was no need for its service.

Following the fireworks there was dancing in Legion hall. Prior to the display the Legionnaires sold watermelon.

A fireworks display was also held at Mokena on Monday night in conjunction with the two-day community picnic sponsored by the Mokena Lions club.

The picnic was held in Mokena Community Park Sunday and Monday. The fireworks were furnished by the Chamber of Commerce.

The affair was well attended. The major prize, a car, went to Anthony Banks, of Peotone.

Marley Holds Its 78th Fourth Of July Picnic

Judge John C. Cowing of the County court of Will County was the speaker at the 4th of July celebration, held at Marley, in Haley park.

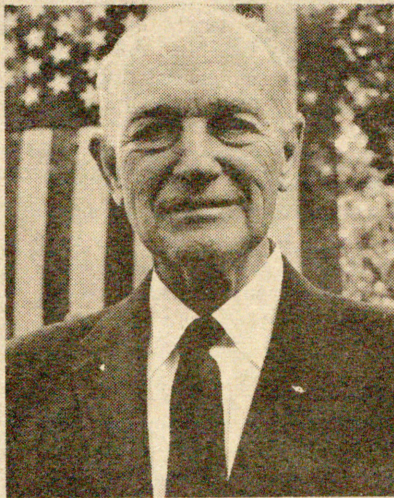

This was the 78th consecutive observance of the Nation's birthday held at Marley.

Judge Cowing said that he has attended these celebrations at Marley for many years and they always gave him a great deal of pleasure. He said others may go where there are large crowds; baseball games; races; fireworks, but to him, (and he expressed the sentiment of everyone there) the Marley picnics have a certain charm perhaps it is the sheer simplicity of the affair, the neighborly atmosphere and the friendliness that permeates the day. There, beneath the great and old wonderful oak trees, with the flag at ease with the breezes, is a setting which in this day is seldom found near a large city. Here year after year, parents and grandparents gather to celebrate this day, who love their God, country, and neighbor, to show their remembrance of the great struggle our forebears made to gain freedom in this land.

We know there are cynics who say that the American people love and respect only one thing; that their God is money, and it rules them with an iron hand" the judge said. "If I could I would like to invite some of these cynics to attend a Marley Fourth of July picnic, and I would challenge them to say that real honest-to-goodness patriotism is a thing of the past. Altho we do not worship the past, we are proud that we have progressed; that we have the finest machinery to operate on our farms and in our factories, and we are proud of the many wonderful inventions, yes even, the many gadgets that have been produced to make our lives easier."

"While we are proud," Judge Cowing continued, "of these material things we do not forget our heritage, and that on this day we celebrate our Independence. It did not come about easily. Anyone who has traveled thru the eastern part of our country, and has seen the beautiful estates of Washington and other great leaders of the revolutionary times, must be struck with wonderment at the nerve and audacity of those men and women. They knew the power and might of the English empire-- they knew that by comparison, those 13 little colonies were puny-- they knew the penalty which they would have to pay and the price in blood and tears and hardships for independence -- they knew these things and yet their desire for independence was so great that they were willing to gamble it all."

"We who have gathered here today appreciate that we are here as free men and women, owing no allegiance to any foreign sovereignty, because of the wisdom, foresight and understanding of our great forefathers who were willing to fight for a great principle. Thru the wisdom of such great men they brought forth a Constitution under which we as a United Nation have lived and thrived, and we finally believe that with God's Blessing, we and our children, and their children, can continue to prosper."

The speaker stated that the winning of the Revolutionary war and the founding of a new nation were just the beginning; that the people started to go west and develop that great country; that inventions began to be brought forth-- the telephone, automobile, airplane, and in rapid succession the wonders of science began to bring forth more and more wonderful things.

In mentioning these many wonders, Judge Cowing pointed out that this country has lived thru depression periods, "and yet in the field of human relationship, our progress has been very slow indeed--as long as there is jealousy and greed, and as long as there are nations which have not, there will be danger. I firmly believe that some day, man will find a way to live together in peace and happiness, but the answer to that puzzle has not yet been found."

The judge concluded by saying "that we must learn to study the issues of the day and vote our convictions, yet many do not bother to go to the polls and vote. Most do in the national elections, but the local, county, township and school elections, are noted by the small vote count. We must show the world, more than ever, that we are strong not only in our military might, but in our firm support of our way of life."

Contractors Begin Work On Sewer System At New Lenox

Years of endeavor on the part of present and past officials to provide New Lenox with a sanitary sewer system have finally borne fruit and work on such a program has been started.

Three contracting firms have the job. Normoyle and Berg, of Rock Island, is installing the mains north of Hickory creek; Nodland and Simonson, of Ottawa, are working south of the creek and Wigert Construction Co. of Chicago, will build the sewage treatment plant. Ernest Scheffow, serving as resident engineer for Baxter and Woodman, Crystal Lake, who designed the system, will supervise the program.

The village board urges all residents to pay careful attention to the work as it progresses so fittings may be installed at proper points for future connections to vacant lots and that connections may be made and extended to lot lines where service is required now. Connection from the lot line to the dwelling must be arranged for by the owner.

Until the sewer ditch is closed in any block residents there who have not already done so may sign up for service. For all persons whose application for service is received in time extension from the main to the lot line is made without cost. After the ditch is filled, however, connections will cost the property owner $150, according to ordinance.

A few branches of the present plan have shown less than 80 per cent have signed for sewer service. The present intention is to eliminate such branches and use the money thus saved to finance extensions into new areas where applications for service are 100 per cent.

Contractors are quoted as saying that the project will be completed within 300 calendar days.

Expect Crowds At Fiesta Sponsored By St. Mary's

Members of St. Mary's parish, Mokena, are busy now with plans for the annual five-day Fiesta which always attracts large crowds from the area.

The affair will open next Wednesday, July 13 and run thru the following Sunday, July 17. It will be held at 194th and Wolf road and a huge search light will serve to guide people to the site.

"Follow the light in the sky to St. Mary's fiesta," has been the slogan for years.

An all out effort to make the Fiesta a big success is planned by the committees in charge. The parish will use the proceeds to reduce the debt on the church and school and other projects.

There will be a variety of attractions, a spokesman said, so everyone should find something of interest.

Not the least of the attractions, he added, will be a delicious home-cooked chicken dinner to be served in the parish social hall, topped off with home baked pie and cake. There will be no charge for preschoolers and for adults and other children the cost will be nominal.

"To those who have attended St. Mary's dinners in the past," the spokesman stated, "no more need be said but we would like to say to new friends that it will be one of the best dinners they ever tasted."

"Everyone is welcome and the parishioners of St. Mary's invite one and all to bring their friends for a carnival of fun."

Prizes will be awarded nightly.

six stolen bases in the contest. Ray Heniff, struck out 12 and yielded only two hits, one an infield type, in gaining his first decision for Orland Park this season.

Matteson never got a runner beyond second base on Heniff. Hartman knocked out a solid single in the first inning, the only solid hit for the entire Matteson team. He was the man who reached second as Heniff tossed up a wild pitch.

Ray ended that mild threat by striking out the next two batters.

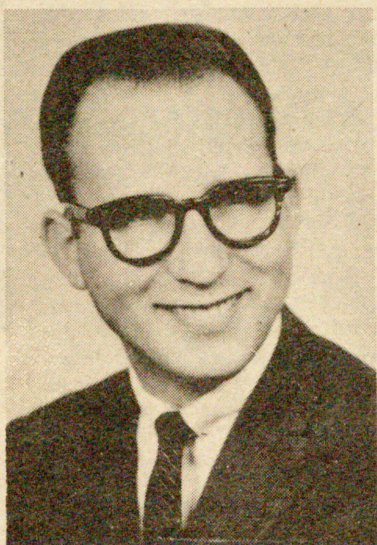

Three runs were recorded for Orland in the first inning. Skip Kruzich, who had two of the four Orland hits, opened the game with a one-base hit to center field. Then he recorded one of his two base stealing efforts. Duane Erickson, Randy Cernick and John Neal were walked in succession following a fly out by Lavine. That forced in a run. Following Jerry McBride's pop foul out, two more men were trotted down to first base on a free ticket and the score was three to nothing.

Orland's final splurge came in the seventh on four walks, an error, a single and three stolen bases netted four runs. Seven of the 10 runs for Orland were scored with the aid of just two hits.

Last night the Homewood "A" team visited Orland Park, but the results were not available for the paper today.

Orland has beaten the teams that seem to be giving them the struggle for the Legion pennant having received their only loss at the hands of the Tinley Park team.

LONGIE CORDELLE
NEW TEACHER-- A. Hunter Chapman, superintendent of Lincoln-Way Community High School, announced the appointment of Lonnie Cordelle to the department of English. Cordelle will teach English and speech at Lincoln-Way this year.

Cordelle taught for two years at Manchester, Ia., in the English department. He was graduated from Upper Iowa university in May of 1959. He attended two other colleges prior to his matriculation at Iowa University: Southern State Teachers college in South Dakota and Arkansas Polytechnic.

AN OLD PRO is this young fellow, 15-year-old David Loucks, of Marley and so unerring was his aim and control that the other youngsters at the Marley Fourth of July picnic prevailed upon him to throw for them. They bought the balls and he fired them at an array of pop bottles. Hats such as the one Dave was wearing, and other gimcracks were given as prizes and it was every pop a pigeon when David let go.

Farmers Outlook Letter

BY L. H. SIMERL
(U. of I. Agriculture Economics)

Developments around the world in recent months may have unleashed new inflationary forces. These developments include the swing toward communism in Cuba, the regression of U. S.-Russian relations, the racial conflicts in Africa, the revolution in Turkey, the canal demonstrations in Panama and the anti-American riots in Japan.

ma and the anti-American riots in Japan.

This progression of events calls for some revision of our plans for national security. It has produced strong demands for increasing government expenditures for defense.

In addition, there are in our own country increasing demands for bigger government spending for welfare and to stimulate "economic growth."

Political disturbances and international conflict are inflationary because they disrupt production and transportation and often increase the demand for commodities. Some of the major price rises in the United States have been associated with civil or foreign wars.

Prices of several important commodities show advances from their lows of earlier months. The price of natural rubber has climbed to 46 1/2 cents a pound, up 36 percent from a year ago. Most of the world's rubber supply is produced in Indonesia and Malaya. Other industrial materials that have shown important price increases include tin, which is produced largely in Malaya, Bolivia and Africa; copper, produced in the restless areas of Africa; burlap, obtained from India and Pakistan; and silk, produced in Japan.

duced largely in Malaya, Bolivia and Africa; copper, produced in the restless areas of Africa; burlap, obtained from India and Pakistan; and silk, produced in Japan.

Prices of fats and oils have also gone up. Soybean oil has increased to 83-84 cents a pound, or 17 percent over its low in early March. Cottonseed oil has climbed to 10 5/8 cents, or 18 percent above its low last December. Lard has moved up to 9 cents a pound, 29 percent over its January low.

On the bearish side of the market is the fact that U.S. industrial production and business activity are not reaching the high levels foreseen last winter by the optimists. Steel production is way down. Automobile stocks are high. The aircraft industry is not getting the new orders that it needs. Housing isn't booming either.

The index of industrial production in May was 110 (1957=100), only 1 point better than a year ago.

Corporation profits for the second quarter are falling below the level of last year. This dip does not encourage businessmen to increase their spending for new plants and equipment.

One big danger spot is the growing personal and family debt. Farmers, for example, now owe $24 billion, twice as much as they owed 10 years ago. Other people now owe $190 billion, or over three times as much as 10 years ago. Thus it appears that the prosperity of the 1950s, like that of the 1920s, was built upon expanding credit.

This situation raises some questions: Can our debts get too big? If so, when will they become too big? And what happens then?

One thing seems certain: The future is uncertain, but it will be interesting.

Palos Girl Gets Scholarship For Nursing School

Graceann Havinga, 17, of 12541 70th ave., Palos Heights has been awarded a nursing scholarship from MacNeal Memorial hospital, Berwyn, Francis J. McCarthy, hospital administrator, announced this week.

Graceann is a June graduate of Chicago Christian high school where she ranked 16th in her class. She will attend West Suburban hospital school of nursing, Oak Park, this September.

Since McNeal has no school of nursing, scholarship winners receive tuition and all required fees at the school of their choice. At present the hospital is underwriting the nursing education of 65 girls at accredited nursing schools and colleges.

McCarthy said the scholarship program is part of the hospital's continuing plan to interest girls in the nursing profession and to provide supervisory nurses for the future 500 bed MacNeal hospital.

Salvation Army Aids Many In Area

The Salvation Army gave help to 179,188 people of every race and creed in the greater Chicago area during 1959.

Covering the twelve months period which completed three-quarters of a century of service in Chicago by The Salvation Army, the 1959 service statistics were released today by Commissioner Claude E. Bates, commander of the Army's 11-state central territory with headquarters in Chicago.

A service was performed for one of the distressed every 11 seconds thruout the year. The 2,859,555 total services included 1,047,420 meals for the hungry and 321,192 nights' lodging for the homeless.

The year 1960 marks The Salvation Army's 75th anniversary in Chicago. "As the statistics indicate, our programs continue to expand in number and size, in response to the needs we find, but our basic motivation has not changed since 1885 when the Army arrived here. The Salvation Army is still God's Army, working to strengthen men's faith in their God and themselves, seeking to make Christian helpfulness efficiently operative in the practical affairs of the community."

The comprehensive religious and welfare programs of The Salvation Army operate from 40 locations in the greater Chicago area, and the services extended range from the distribution of hot coffee to working firemen to the provision of complete hospital and maternity home care for unwed mothers and their babies.

Other services of The Salvation Army in this area include summer camp vacations for slum mothers and children, individual and family counseling, work with prisons and parolees, the location of missing persons, help to alcoholics, the operation of a day nursery, home-maker service for distressed families and group recreational programs for adults and children.

LINE UP FOR DINNER at Marley picnic. Food was supplied on the grounds so it wasn't necessary to lug a basket or hamper filled with fried chicken, deviled eggs, pickles, cakes, pie and other picnic standards--altho come to think of it there is nothing to be said against such a set up. It may be heavy on arrival but picnic baskets and hampers have a way of becoming lighter before the day is done, (Marvin Smith photo)

NEW BELL CHIME

tells you to answer the phone

Now a pleasant, melodic chime will tell you your phone is ringing--no matter where you are in your home.

You can have the new Bell Chime installed anywhere--living room, or the family room. It comes in velvety gold or soft ivory.

A handy switch makes it a loud bell when you're outside on the patio. Or you can set it for the familiar, regular telephone ring.

The cost is low. And, maintenance is free. Call your Service Representative at the Bell Telephone business office and ask about the Bell Chime.

Better yet, stop in and have her show it to you. Or if an installer-repairman visits your home, ask to see it.

The Good Old Summertime!

Weather is like whiskey—taken in moderation
it can be pleasant and beneficial but don't overdo it.
So far we have had a cool summer. Too cool, some say, but then the season is not too old. There is more than ample time left to develop a normal summer.

There are, of course, some individuals who revel in heat. We have friends who are delightful people to be with, intelligent, kind, considerate, witty and altogether quite charming—but we must confess there are times when they become quite annoying.
That is when the thermometer is showing readings of plus 90 or 100, the humidity is too high and the forecast calls for continuation of same with no relief in sight.

It is at such a time when the great majority of us are perspiring, panting and wondering if we shall manage to survive the day that these otherwise excellent companions smile gleefully.

"Isn't this just marvelous, this weather?" they demand, "It has been so cold all spring and summer, except for maybe a day in May. This heat is just wonderful. Makes one feel good—so comfortable."
And there we are, sweltering and tottering, about ready to collapse, looking as tho we had just stepped out of a shower without having taken the trouble to first remove our clothing.

How we ever got the notion these people had any intelligence is beyond us. Find this heat and humidity wonderful do they? Mad, completely lunatic, that's what they are, completely minus their marbles.

And the sad part about it is that these people are sincere. They really like hot weather and when they say it never gets too hot for them they mean it.

There are some folks who say it but don't mean it. They profess to dote on hot weather but you will notice when they are most lavish with their praise of a rising temperature they are comfortably clothed and esconced in an air conditioned room with cooling liquids close at hand.

On the weather we are middle-of-the-roads—
we don't like it too hot and we don't like it too cold—and that friends, is an order as difficult to have filled as one for a steak cooked really medium.

One thing we know that is certain—there isn't anything anyone can do about the weather except to enjoy it when its fine and grumble when it isn't.

Grumbling won't change it, of course, but it may make YOU feel better and that's what counts.

On Second Tho't

BY GLENN F. LOGAN

The architect who can find a material that will absorb noise and at the same time can be washed and painted and so kept clean with a minimum of effort, should have it made if he specializes in designing hospitals.

Because at the present time one of the noisiest places in the land is a hospital.

Some years ago signs were erected along the streets near hospitals with the legend—"Quiet Zone—Hospital." And before that in the horse and dray days a street in front of a hospital housing some person of prominence was sometimes covered with straw to muffle the clomp-clomp of moving horses and jolting wheels.

Then all of a sudden the signs reminding motorists they were in a hospital area disappeared.
Apparently the removal of the signs followed the discovery there was more noise inside a hospital than outside.

Street sounds that trickled into such institutions were for the most part drowned out by the rumblings, bangings and voices within the walls.

The hospitals themselves are eliminating one noise source thru piping oxygen into the rooms occupied by patients. Where this improvement has not been made it is still necessary to when the tanks in on dollys.

On nights when sudden changes of weather brought on flare-ups among the cardiacs, nurses and other available hospital personnel went flying for the oxygen drums.
The carts had rubber tires but there always seemed to be enough wobbly axles or loose fastenings about the drums to give out a rumble that echoed up and down the corridors and made one think of the chariot race in stage productions of Ben Hur.

All of the various carts in daily use in the corridors, the short night shifts furnished patients—that with a couple of safety pins to close the backs look for all the world like the garb worn by a charioteer—naturally turn one's thoughts to accounts of Roman racing.

The sound of pounding hooves is lacking but the clack-clack of high-heeled visitors hurrying a-
